

Resumen ponencia 102

The Brazilian experience on ceramic tile adhered coverings and the challenge of reviewing a new national standard.

Jonas S. Medeiros
Brazil

Brazil is probably the country where more tile can be found on building façade. From south to north thousands of high rise projects still use adhered traditional methods of installation. The paper summarises a long term discussion on how to consider good practices and engineering know-how to create guidelines and criteria for the design and installation of adhered tiles.